I am so happy to be able to again welcome you to Chicago, the home of the International Mr. Leather and International Mr. Bootblack competitions!

Once again, we get to celebrate our annual family reunion and partake in all the things that make our city so special. We’re so happy you’re here and hope this is your best IML yet!

This year marks one of those special benchmark moments that truly matters. Why? It is because we celebrate the 25th Anniversary of the International Mr. Bootblack competition (IMBB). I sometimes marvel at some of the ideas through our history that started small and have grown in ways we never anticipated and became something so important. IMBB is a perfect example of this: An idea 25+ years ago that has become such a vital and important part of our entire weekend experience as we come together to celebrate all things leather and fetish.

I ask you to show your support for the contestants of the IMBB competition this weekend. Cheer them on. See and experience first-hand the beauty and passion these amazing people bring to their craft. And, if you’re a Weekend Package holder, be sure to bring your ballot to do your part in selecting the next International Mr. Bootblack. I wish each of the contestants the very best of luck!

Once again, IML returns to The Congress Hotel. Each year, regardless of our host hotel, there are challenges and changes we experience in real-time as the weekend progresses. Both the IML staff and the Congress staff have been working hard all year to make your experience as fun and as care-free as possible. We know it is virtually impossible to please every single one of our guests but, if challenges do occur or you have an issue, please raise those concerns with the appropriate parties but also, please be patient as well as respectful as we try to remedy what comes our way.

This year brings a few changes to both our weekend schedule and our venues for contest-related events. IML Weekend begins on Thursday, May 25, with Opening Ceremonies. Going back to our roots once more, this event will be held at The Congress Hotel in what promises to be the more intimate cocktail party gathering of friends and family that many have enjoyed over the years. Of course, there will be contestant introductions, along with the return of the “Number Pull” for the contestants competing for both IML and IMBB.

Equally exciting is our move to The Auditorium Theater, located directly across the street from The Congress Hotel. Both the Pecs and Personality on Saturday night and The International Mr. Leather finale on Sunday night will be held here. The Auditorium Theater is a National Historic Landmark with a history that goes back to 1899. And while we certainly won’t need all of its 4,000 seats, its place in Chicago history—and now OUR history—is truly wonderful. I am so glad we were able to secure this beautiful and incredible venue for our events and just can’t wait to see all that leather take the stage and fill the seats!

As before, the weekend is filled with parties, seminars, mixers, demos and, of course, the Vendor Market on the first, second and third floors of the hotel. Access to the Vendor Market requires a wristband that is included in the full Weekend Premier Package. For non-package holders, Vendor Market wristbands are available in the “Day Pass” Registration area in the hotel lobby: A full weekend wristband is available for a suggested donation of $25 and individual days for a suggested donation of $15. Please remember that the net proceeds of all wristband sales benefit the Leather Archives and Museum.

There are so many people to meet, opportunities to connect with old and new friends and just plain fun. For you newcomers to IML, just jump in and enjoy the energy and, if you need some guidance, don’t hesitate to ask one of our 300 volunteers who are ready to assist you. But, I do encourage ALL of you to step out of the hotel now and then to explore, experience and see firsthand why we love Chicago. From museums to dining to just exploring the waterfront close by, I am convinced that you too will fall in love with our city.

I say it every year, but IML is truly a labor of love. Last year, we welcomed some 15,000 people to celebrate the weekend. IML also started small with about 400 people in attendance. And now ... Wow! It is because of each of you that we have grown over the years and I thank you for making this the premiere leather fetish event anywhere. Anywhere! Thank you!

Now get out there. Play hard. Play Safe. And welcome to our 39th Anniversary of IML and our 25th Anniversary of IMBB!

Thib Guicherd-Callin

Thib Guicherd-Callin is an entertainer in (or is it entertainment for?) the Leather community. A French native based in San Jose, California, he stumbled into kink by accident in 2001, after misunderstanding that the Folsom Street Fair was an arts and crafts fair. Thus far a two-time IML roastmaster, one-time IML emcee and zero-time IML, Thib has also been invited to host ILSb-ICBB, IM/s at SPLF, “Seduction” at IMSL, Iowa Leather Weekend, Tri-State Leather, Kink Weekend OKC and, unfortunately, many other events. He is the resident roastmaster at Mr. Chicago Leather, and his comedy stylings have been tolerated on roast panels at ILSb-ICBB, IMSL, Mr. San Francisco Leather, Mr. Los Angeles Leather, and (alas!) more. Thib serves as treasurer of the Santa Clara County Leather Association, producer of the Mr. and Ms. Santa Clara County Leather contest, and assistant producer of Northwest Leather Celebration. A former Hunky Jesus contest winner and IML silver medalist, he honors his French heritage by forsaking the gym and surviving on nothing but a steady diet of wine, cheese and duck fat.

Lenny Broberg

Broberg is a proud, openly Gay San Francisco Police Officer, internationally recognized Leather personality, competitive Gay Softball League player, highly sought after emcee and auctioneer, and friend and supporter to many segments of the LGBT and larger non-profit community.

Lenny was born in Chicago; moved at an early age to Salem, Wisconsin; attended Iowa State University; and then settled in San Francisco 30 years ago, where he held executive positions at Pacific Bell and the Portman Hotel. In 1995, he fulfilled a life-long dream of enrolling in the San Francisco Police Academy, quickly finding his calling with troubled youth and criminal street gangs. In 2002, he joined the Gang Task Force and in 2010 was promoted to Inspector. He is widely respected as an expert in African-American gang activities, often called upon for expert testimony and conflict resolution.

In 1991, Lenny pursued one of his extracurricular passions, playing softball and becoming a Commissioner of the SF Gay Softball League. He has participated in over 10 Gay Softball World Series and holds a solid reputation as a charismatic coach, star pitcher, and mentor to upcoming talent.

In 1992, another of Lenny’s interests came to the forefront as he competed and won the titles of Mr. SF Eagle Leather, Mr. SF Leather, and International Mr. Leather, all in the same year. He remains a prominent figure in the Leather Community, offering guidance to potential title-holders, judging and emceeing contests all over the world, and presenting a positive and intelligent image of the Leather Community.

Over the past 20 years, Lenny has been honored by mayors, the board of supervisors, and state legislators. For his tireless efforts in the non-profit world, he has received significant recognition from the AIDS Emergency, Shanti, Positive Resource Center, STOP AIDS, Pets Are Wonderful Support, Transgender SF, Imperial Court, Ducal Court, SF Gay Men’s Chorus, Pride Alliance (SF police officers’ LGBT organization), Golden Gate Guards Motorcycle Club, and Alameda County Leather Corps. He has been named Officer of the Month by the SF Police Department, Most Valuable Player by the Gay Softball League, and Man of the Year by the Pantheon of Leather.

More recently, Lenny has broadened his volunteer efforts, masterfully emceeing and auctioning for the Human Rights Campaign (HRC), Gay & Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation (GLAAD), Wild Aid, Friends of Alameda Animal Shelter, Rotary Club, and urban community service agencies. He has co-anchored the live television coverage of the SF Pride Parade for several years. Lenny is thrilled and excited to be back as your weekend MC this year.

DAVID “TIGGER” BAILEY (IML 2016)
Howell, NJ
David “Tigger” Bailey is your current International Mr. Leather and is Mr. New Jersey Leather 2016. A Massachusetts native, he grew up on the East Coast, attended MIT and graduated with a degree in management science. He slowly migrated west from Boston and has called New Jersey home for the past 15 years.

Tigger has built a strong, non-traditional family consisting of two Sirs, two boys … and lots of lube. He openly shares his polyamorous life in order to empower others to be authentic, regardless of boundaries or norms. He is a proud collared Sir to his extended leather family, where public service is valued and encouraged. His messages of leather, love, service, and non-traditional families have ignited conversation and reexamination of what it means to be a kinky leather person in a time of hetero-normative pressure to assimilate.

NICK ELLIOTT
Portland, Ore.
Nick Elliott has been called lots of things in his lifetime, but never “boring.” Nick is International Mr. Bootblack 2012, and while he’s hung up his sash, he still does boots all over the country at different events and bars, and he believes that, by taking care of your leather, he’s taking care of you.

Nick is a U.S. Army Veteran who lives in Portland, Oregon. He has a wife, a boyfriend in Edinburgh, and a couple of Daddies on the side. Nick describes himself as a bi-poly-pagan-kinky-gamer-geek (or “slut” for short), and he switches for impact and rough body play and loves to bite. He is available during IML Weekend … when he’s not judging.

LANCE HOLMAN
San Francisco, Calif.
Lance Holman is Mr. San Francisco Leather 2010, Mr. Powerhouse Leather 2010 and he was first runner-up at International Mr. Leather 2010. Lance was selected Leather Alliance 2010 Man of the Year for his active support and work in the kink community; he believes in the virtues of honor, passion and pride, and he continues to share these qualities through playful compassion and divine pleasure.

Lance has been a San Francisco Bay Area resident for over 20 years, and he began his leather journey in the heart of the Castro. When he is not playing, Lance is involved in a number of community activities, including the production of the Leather Walk; serving on the boards of the AIDS Emergency Fund and the Breast Cancer Emergency Fund; producing a monthly event to foster positive sexual interaction; and supporting the Leather Pride Contingent, AIDS Lifecycle and Toys for Tots. He also has emceed and judged events across the US, such as International Leather Sir/boy, the San Francisco Leather Alliance weekend, Northern California Leather Sir/boy, Palm Springs Leather, Mr. Powerhouse Leather and the Black Coalition on AIDS.
AARON MATTHEW LAXTON
St. Louis, Mo.
Aaron M. Laxton is an award-winning activist, writer and Leatherman. Since his 2011 HIV diagnosis, Aaron has reached over a million viewers in over 138 countries via his YouTube channel, “My HIV Journey.” Aaron is the recipient of numerous awards, including the Pantheon of Leather Midwest Regional Award and Advocate’s list of 40 under 40. He is a veteran of the US Army Airborne who is currently working on his Master’s in Social Work, and he has served people impacted by HIV, veterans who are homeless, and individuals impacted by the criminal justice system.

Aaron believes that philanthropy and community service that started within the bars and clubs decades ago are needed now more than ever. His journey in leather has taken him from the bars to the streets to protest for LGBT equality, Black Lives Matter and Transgender Rights. He believes participation in our community is political because it stands in the face of the establishment. Aaron and his husband live in St. Louis, Missouri with their bio-pup, Oliver.

TINA MACKAY
Cleveland, Ohio
Tina MacKay is a founding board member of CLAW with a lifetime term on the CLAW Board of Directors. She has been an important part of CLAW planning and management every year since 2003, and was the Deputy Executive Director of CLAW 12-16 weekends. In addition to CLAW, Tina has held various roles in other Kink and Leather organizations and events, including the Organ Grinders Ball, NAIL leather club, Pride events, food drives and various contests. She is the winner of the 2013 Pantheon of Leather Great Lakes Regional Award.

Tina has spent over 30 years making a living buying and selling vintage clothing, and she owned and operated a Goth clothing store in Cleveland called Grave Wear. Tina lives just south of Cleveland with Walter, her husband of 28 years. They have raised three beautiful and free-thinking daughters, now in their twenties.

PATTY
Toronto, Ont., Canada
Patty is International Ms. Leather 2014, Ms. Leather Toronto 2014 and Ms. Northbound Leather 2013. She is a butch leatherdyke who has been involved in the Leather Community for over 15 years.

Patty served on the boards of the “So You Want to Be Kinky” educational series and the International Ms. Leather Foundation. She ran the Surge Event Series in Toronto and created the “Surge: Images of Power & Pleasure” calendar as a fundraiser. She has presented workshops on mummification and spanking and co-hosted experiential “novice nights.” She regularly presents workshops on suicide and mental health first aid for the puppy, kink and Leather communities, and she works on behalf of Rainbow Railroad, which helps LGBT individuals find safe haven from state-sanctioned violence, murder and persecution.

Patty has received numerous awards, including two Pantheon of Leather Awards, served as grand marshal for the Toronto Leather Pride March, and more.

She is a founding member of the Heart of the Flag Federation, an associate member of ONYX, and is a member of the Vajra Leather Family. Born and raised in upstate NY, Patty has been happily transplanted in Toronto for over a decade where she is a dual Canadian-US citizen and lives with her super-hot wife.
MATT WOLF
Largo, Fla.
Matt Wolf won the title of Mr. Gulf Coast Florida Leather 2009, from which he has still not stepped aside. He considers himself “an infant” in the Leather and fetish community. Matt was groundbreaking in his attempt to unify the Tampa Bay area gay, lesbian and pansexual communities by creating the Tampa Bay Leather Tribe, which brought the leaders of all the local clubs and organizations together to discuss, learn and grow. With the help of his new-found brothers and sisters, Matt was the dreamer and driving force creating Tampa Bay Leather ‘n’ Fetish Pride.

Matt wanted to help bridge the gap between his local Leather and Drag communities, so he held Leather Turnabout, where leather-clad folk turn into Drag Kings and Queens and perform within 30 minutes. Matt believes that only together will Drag, gay, lesbian and pansexual people survive. The event, now called Florida Leather and Fetish Pride, seeks to create unity throughout the state of Florida. Matt says he will always be around when someone needs him, and he will be there to help when he can.

Although a national educator, producer, contest judge and tally master, Boymeat is best known for his outreach to the younger members of our community. In 1999, he co-created the concept of The Next Generation (TNG), a specialized group serving young adults between the ages of 18 and 35 who are interested in SM. Boymeat continues to serve as a resource for TNG group leaders and activists across the US.

A bisexual, polyamorous switch, with a penchant for foot fetishism, incest role play and piss play, Boymeat is rumored to be the quite the sadist. An aspirational handcuff collector and leather history slut, he is the man who nerve.com said, “makes the Marquis de Sade look like Pat Boone.” He happily resides in New York with his fantastic wife, Kathryn Tact-Wolf and two cats. Also, his wife is amazing.

PHILLIP “BOYMEAT” WOLF
New York City, NY
Phillip Wolf—more popularly known as Boymeat—is a native New Yorker. Discovering The Eulenspiegel Society (TES) at the age of 19, he eventually became a TES board member and educational program producer.

ESA YYKOOÄN
Helsinki, Finland
Esa discovered his inner fetish guy when he was 21 years old. He knew he had found his real brothers after taking part in Finlandization 2004, a summer fetish party held annually in Helsinki. He has been an active member of Finland’s leather/fetish men’s club, MSC Finland-Tom’s Club, for over ten years, and he is currently in his third year serving as president of the club. He was one of the main organizers of the annual general meeting of ECMC in Helsinki 2016. He and his team took good care of the guests from all over Europe as they hosted a fantastic fetish weekend and Mr. Leather Europe 2016 competition. In 2016, MSC Finland - Tom’s Club celebrated its 40th anniversary, and the club filled its year with projects and events.

Esa has been successfully running his own business for almost six years and he is also one of the founders and an active member of the HLBTIQ entrepreneurs’ society in Finland. His main fetishes are leather and rubber, and he is a complete Adidas sneaker freak.
DAVID HAWKS
Charlottesville, Va.

David Hawks has been involved in the leather community since 1979 when he snuck into the DC Eagle at the age of 17. It took several years for the shock to wear off and for him to realize he belonged there. His focus was on his home community of Richmond, Virginia, until winning the Mid-Atlantic Bootblack title in 2000 and then going on to win the International Mr. Bootblack title that same year. Best known for his work in bringing visibility to bootblacks, he went on to become the co-ordinator of the International Mr. Bootblack competition, where he proudly served his community and is credited for making some of the most significant changes to the IMBB competition since its inception. After retiring from his very public life, he now lives with his Daddy outside of Charlottesville, Virginia. David is currently very busy renovating a 140-year-old farmhouse, gardening, canning and preserving and building a more sustainable life and future for his family.

ERICK JOSEPH (IMBB 2016)
Anchorage, Alaska

Erick Joseph is proud to have served the community as the first-ever Alaska State Bootblack and now currently as International Mr. Bootblack 2016! His passion for bootblacking stems from his discovery of all things leather at the Alaska Center for Alternative Lifestyles, located in downtown Anchorage. For Erick, bootblacking is a fulfilling form of service to his community as well as a way of helping others preserve the positive energy of their leathers. Most importantly, he enjoys the sexiness and connection that a good boot scene can encompass.

Erick’s goal is to continue to cultivate and promote the Bootblack Community while bringing a fun and positive face to the International Mr. Bootblack title. He enjoys traveling, meeting others and creating bonds with community members for future endeavors. He describes himself as a dedicated, hardworking, loyal and FUN Bootblack with a special interest in service and blacking from the lap!

ELISA (INT’L MS. BOOTBLACK 2017)
Detroit, Mich.

Elisa is International Ms. Bootblack 2017, 2016 Great Lakes Bootblack and 2015 Michigan Community Bootblack, and she is a founder of the Detroit Area Bootblacks’ Laboratory. She is a member of the gender-inclusive Michigan Band of Brothers and holds leadership positions in the Board of Education, a kinky, pansexual educational organization in metro Detroit.

She is a radical sexual outlaw who disdains hierarchy and who is best described as a contrarian leather anarchist. She is a body-positive, polyamorous feminist. She is a fuzzy femme piglet who demands authentic and intimate relationships that involve degradation, objectification and pain done with love and affection.

Don has been involved in the Leather Community for over 20 years and came out into leather while living in Ohio, where he was a full member of the Centurions of Columbus and an Associate Member of Trident International Columbus and the Iron Eagles. In 2002, he became the first Great Lakes Leather Sir and remained involved with the Great Lakes Leather Alliance (GLLA) weekend for nearly a decade in various roles, including contest coordinator. Since 2007, he has been a contest coordinator for the International LeatherSIR/Leatherboy ("ILSb") contest, and before he and his partner, Mark, relocated to South Florida in 2014, he’d served on the IML contestant handling staff.

He has judged, emceed and presented at many events throughout the country. In 2010, Don was awarded the Pantheon of Leather Great Lakes Regional Award, and, in 2013, he was presented with the inaugural Chuck Windemuth Mr. Chicago Leather Mentorship Award. He is extremely proud to be an Associate Member of the Chicago Hellfire Club.

FAREWELL

David “Tigger” Bailey, International Mr. Leather 2016

I was wrong. I’ll admit it upfront. I was wrong.

People told me that running for IML can be a life-changing experience. My response was simple: “If running for a title can change your life, then your life needs a lot of work.”

The answer today isn’t that simple.

This has not been a simple or easy year. It was only a couple weeks after winning IML that the horrific massacre at Pulse Nightclub in Orlando happened—an experience that yanked away our security blanket. The next day I received a request for a video statement for the victims, survivors, their friends and families. “Who, me?” “Yes, you’re IML and people want to hear what you have to say.”

Wow, life got real, fast.

The year, and our world, got progressively less stable with the US presidential election. On the very first day of the new administration, the LGBTQ and national HIV/AIDS strategy pages of the White House website were deleted. With a key stroke our presence was erased. And today, with over 100 of our brothers in Chechnya being tortured in concentration camps, our worst nightmares are likely still ahead. In fact, Chechen leader Kadyrov has made claims to rid Chechnya of gays by the end of this month. Fuck.

So what changed in me? Everything. When I competed here a year ago, I presented what I hoped was the best version of myself. When I left wearing that gold medallion, I had to take a long, hard look at myself to see if I was living up to that, every day. Let me be clear, as IML it was never my goal to represent an entire diverse community, but I was committed to representing myself with clarity, honesty and transparency. In times of distress people look for strength and comfort. I did my best to provide both.

This became even clearer moments before the Philadelphia pride parade when a young man asked if I was IML and if he could give me a hug. I said sure and he hugged me like he desperately needed something to hold on to. I hugged him back, hard. When he finally let go I asked him what that was about. He said he wanted to thank me for my speech in Chicago, that it helped him feel not so alone in the world, and that to him it mattered, a lot. Wow. Today I am changed for the better because of every person I have hugged, every hand I have shaken, every smile I have returned.

Today, I truly know what having a voice means. My beliefs crystallized and became clear through relentless challenges from people and places that sometimes surprised and saddened me. I lost the need to please everyone and found the conviction to confront unhealthy and toxic behaviors.

I used my voice to challenge us to be better, to treat each other better. I didn’t participate if it wasn’t something that made our community stronger and fortified our alliances. That wasn’t always popular. But as old enemies become emboldened to mount new attacks against our rights as people, rebels, outliers and sexual pioneers being more powerful is more important than being popular.

No, it hasn’t been easy. I had to make some hard decisions, both personal and professional. There was sacrifice. There was more than one occasion where I heard my Dad’s voice in my head: “That which we obtain too easily, we deem too lightly.” So I worked. I represented the title of IML to the best of my ability—with humility, pride, respect, empathy and a sense of humor.

As a result I’m not the same “Tigger” that stood before you a year ago. I stand taller, speak louder and fight faster. This Tigger still bounces, but this Tigger has claws. And I thank all of you, from the NJ family and friends that nurtured and supported my dream to be of service, to the men and women I call my chosen family. To my Sir, Dan Ronneberg and our boys, Todd Leavitt and Randy Gooch—I love you, all the way.

To all the title holders, public figures and community leaders past, present and future: Thank you for your service. To everyone who puts themselves out there in the spotlight so we don’t get swept back into the darkness of hate and homophobia, I owe you. We all do.

FAREWELL

Erick Joseph, International Mr. Bootblack 2016

“What have I gotten myself into!?”

I never could have imagined the amazing year I was about to experience. How did a little Alaskan puppy make it all the way to Chicago to become YOUR International Mr. Bootblack 2016? I can promise you I didn’t do any of this alone. Everyone I have met this year has been an integral part of my experience and I’ve learned some important things along the way.

In Wisconsin, I learned from Pup Chomper that sometimes something as small as saying, “Hi!” can be one of the most important things and can have such a positive impact on a person. In New Jersey, I learned that family will always be there for you and know what you need to hear, even if you don’t want to hear it. Love you, Uncle Hooker! Australia taught me that it is far more important to go where you are needed for the places that don’t get visits from international title holders as often as they should, like Melbourne! These are just a few of the places and actions that impacted my year. I can’t mention all of them or I’d need the whole program.

I never thought when traveling outside of Alaska I would find people that made me feel like I was home wherever I went. boy Patrick, Lascivious Jane and Meghan—MY Sash Family! You are all amazing individuals who I have been proud to stand next to on every occasion. This ride might be over, but I hope it isn’t our last together! I’m looking forward to spending days by the pool at Wuzzy Acres with you!

Finally, speaking of feeling like I’m home, I cannot end this letter without talking about the place that started it all and the people who have stood next to me from the beginning. My home leather community, the Alaska Center for Alternative Lifestyles and my leather mama, Sarha Shaubach. I feel like Dorothy from Oz! There truly is no place like home. Every time I return, I am rejuvenated by my own bed, my family and getting to serve my community. Being able to represent you all in my travels around the world and sharing the experience with you has been a privilege and an honor I won’t soon forget. I have had a good fucking time (or was it a good time fucking??). I suppose they are the same thing! I’m not crying because it’s over, I will always smile because it happened!

Yours in leather,

Erick Joseph

HELL BENT FOR LEATHER IN POP MUSIC

Leather and Rock ’n’ Roll go way back, back to Gene Vincent and Elvis Presley, then to The Beatles donning Brando-inspired motorcycle jackets in the ’50s and ’60s for a bit of rebellious edge. Think of it as yesterday’s version of a sex tape or Twitter battle. Then Presley brought it up a notch when, in 1969, he went full leather head to toe for his “comeback special.” While leather is synonymous with rebel rock, some more daring artist of the ’70s and beyond took it to our beloved sexual level, often inspired by their private lives in and amongst the burgeoning liberated gay scene. Let’s hit up a whistle stop timeline of modern leather + rock ’n’ pop.

Lou Reed 1967, 1972. With lyrics like, “Kiss the boot of shiny, shiny leather, shiny leather in the dark/Tongue of thongs, the belt that does await you/Strike, dear mistress, and cure his heart,” Lou made no bones about his desires and visions in “Venus in Furs” off The Velvet Underground & Nico album. Then, in 1972, he gave all us young kids a start by bringing the NYC leather underground to the majors with models Gala Mitchell and Ernie Thormahlen on the back cover of Transformer, in full ’70s leather bar glory. The ’70s were littered with leather: Suzi Quatro; The Ramones; The Who; but no one made it more overtly gay than Lou. Well, maybe with the exception of Glenn Hughes of The Village People, but since that was corporate leather drag, we’ll move on.

Freddie Mercury, 1982. Queen certainly gave us full leather looks a la Elvis when 1980’s The Game gave us great visuals with a rockabilly feel with “Crazy Little Thing Called Love,” but when Queen recorded their next real album in Munich, 1982’s Hot Space, the closeted front-man was free to explore Germany’s legendary gay underground when not recording. The result was an elevation of his leather look and sound that wasn’t evident on the hit single/video for “Under Pressure,” as it was just stock footage, but the second single (and flop) “Body Language” was straight out of Steamworks. Quite obviously, in fact. The band played in front of a white-tiled wall while water and steam splashed on partially nude and leather-clad models writhing, spanking and biting.

The MTV Era, 1981-85. MTV ushered in a new era of videos and what came with it was a need to shock via fashion and sex. Frankie Goes To Hollywood was famously banned in the UK with their gay leather bar video and chorus of “When you wanna cum” in “Relax.” While Annie Lennox was screaming for a leather dress in “4/4 Leather” with The Eurythmics, Soft Cell was bossing around their “Sex Dwarf” (also banned), and Depeche Mode’s Martin Gore was getting more and more bold, expressing his passion for BDSM and leather more prominently with each release, often wearing full harnesses and chaps on stage. Over in the R&B community, you even had Cameo’s Larry Blackmon cruising in the “Word Up!” video, being busted by cops while wearing a red leather cod piece. Owwww!

Rob Halford of Judas Priest. Not even the super straight metal community was immune. In fact, Rob Halford was the most leather of all rock starts and did it with a wink to the LGBT community, while fooling most of his macho straight fans. Since the late ’70s, Rob, who was closeted at the time, wore leather under the guise of a biker/tough guy persona in keeping with metal, but anyone with a bit of gaydar or experience in the community knew better. Like Freddie, Rob was hitting the gay leather clubs at night, which influenced his look, but not his sound. Rob finally came out after he left Judas Priest and made it okay for many metal fans to drop their homophobia for their hero.

Madonna, NIN and Marilyn Manson in the ’90s. Of course Madonna had to have her BDSM phase because, well, she’s Madonna. She hit peak shock value with the MTV-banned “Justify My Love,” a domination fantasy taking place in an anything-goes hotel, followed by the single “Erotica,” in which she plays Dita, complete with mask and riding crop. While great for us, this lead to a crash in her career as she finally seemed to go too far for mainstream. Her pushing of the envelope opened many doors, and Nine Inch Nails and Marilyn Manson walked right in. NIN with his equally-as-banned “Closer” video and Marilyn with every single thing he did for 10 years.

Leather and BDSM are still no strangers to pop with Rihanna’s “Disturbia” and “S&M” and Beyonce and Gaga’s fashion choices, but in this era of Trump and low album sales, no one wants to rock the boat. Along with a music rebellion, maybe it’s time someone put their high-heeled boot back down in the public’s face for a little leather humiliation.
